

THE NARROW ROAD TO UNITY

Our world has become increasingly polarized and volatile. That's certainly true when it comes to racial and political views in our culture.

Are we too woke or are we too indifferent?

To what degree do our convictions shape our politics?

How do we maintain unity when it feels like people around us are increasingly hostile?

Join us as Ben steps into a conversation on what to do when our minds run to worst-case scenarios that can divide us rather than to Christ who can unify us.

Tender-Hearted

For those God has made to be more tender-hearted, pursue relationships with people who lead with caution and discernment, and listen to them without frustration. Strive for more discernment without abandoning Christ-like compassion.

Tough-Minded

For those God has made to be more tough-minded, pursue relationships with people who lead with Christ-like compassion, and listen to them without fearing the worst. Strive for more compassion without compromising truth.
